Navajo Housing Authority Urges the Public to Verify Information and Avoid Spreading False or Misleading Social Media Posts

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. — October 21, 2026 — The Navajo Housing Authority (NHA) is aware of information circulating on social media that may be false, misleading, or presented without the necessary facts and context. NHA encourages the public to exercise caution when viewing, sharing, or commenting on information concerning the Authority, its operations, programs, projects, and leadership.

As the tribally designated housing entity serving the Navajo Nation, NHA recognizes its responsibility to communicate with the public in a manner that promotes transparency, accountability, and public trust. Accurate information is essential to ensuring that Navajo citizens, housing applicants, tenants, employees, and community partners have a clear understanding of the Authority's work and its commitment to addressing housing needs throughout the Navajo Nation.

Social media can be a valuable tool for sharing information; however, unverified claims, incomplete statements, and misleading posts can create unnecessary confusion, damage reputations, and undermine public confidence. NHA respectfully asks the public to verify information through official sources before accepting or distributing claims presented online.

NHA remains committed to carrying out its mission of "Providing a Stable Foundation for Families to Live, Grow, and Walk in Beauty." This commitment includes responsible stewardship of housing resources, continued efforts to improve housing opportunities, and open communication with the communities it serves.

Members of the public who have questions or concerns regarding NHA programs, policies, housing developments, or administrative matters are encouraged to seek clarification directly through the Authority's official communication channels. NHA will continue to provide verified information and official updates as appropriate.

The Navajo Housing Authority appreciates the public's continued interest in its work and encourages respectful, fact-based dialogue. Together, we can help ensure that public discussions concerning housing and community development are grounded in accurate information and a shared commitment to the well-being of the Navajo people.

About the Navajo Housing Authority
